

Fun Fact

A turkey or an eagle...

If Ben Franklin had had his way, the turkey would be our national bird. That would mean we would have a turkey on our quarter instead of an eagle. Imagine if the astronaut who landed on the moon had said "The turkey has landed," ...it just wouldn't be the same.

– www.usmint.gov/learn/kids/coins-and-medals

Move the coins through the maze to the bank!

FUNNY MONEY JOKES

When does it rain money?
(When there's change in the weather!)

Where does a penguin keep its money?
(In a snow bank!)

Where does Dracula keep his money?
(In a blood bank!)

Where do fish keep their money?
(In a river-bank!)

Easy Candy Corn Turkey Cookies

Make sure you have:

- Double-Stuffed Oreos
- White frosting
- Pretzel sticks
- Candy eyes
- Candy corns

Microwave cookie for 2 to 3 seconds to soften. Break a pretzel stick in half and carefully push the sticks inside the cookie to form the legs. Do the same with 5 candy corns up top to form the feathers. Use 3 small dots of icing on the top of the cookie and add the candy eyes and a candy corn for a nose.

Ask Penny...

Dear Penny,

I am in 7th grade and have recently opened a new Savings account. I received all A's on my 1st quarter report card. I am excited to bring it into the bank, because I know Penny rewards for good grades. Will I be able to visit Penny's prize store?

Your friend,

Conner

Dear Wise Saver Friend,

GREAT JOB ON YOUR GRADES! I'm sure you worked very hard to get those and I look forward to you bringing that report card in to any of our bank locations to visit my prize store. I have recently added two new prizes to my store that you might like; a cell phone holder and ear buds! I am excited to see you soon and keep saving!

Penny

Where's Penny?

Come see Penny as she sings Christmas carols in the parade around Holton's downtown square on Saturday, December 1st at 6:00 PM